

Pursue an Accelerated Pathway to Your Education Degree

Save time and money by earning early college credit

Cedarville’s School of Education degrees typically take four years to complete. Dual-enrolled high school students who earn 18 or more dual-credit hours selected from the course options below may be able to shorten their degree by one semester or to create time in their schedule to pursue an academic minor or extracurricular activities.

The Pre-Education pathway assumes that students will meet undergraduate proficiency requirements for English and math and complete least three years of the same high school foreign language.

Admission to your undergraduate degree program

Completion of the Pre-Education Pathway does not guarantee admission to your chosen program and completion of this pathway does not guarantee early degree completion. Students must meet the School of Education admission and academic requirements. For additional course options, a Dual Enrollment advisor can help you choose courses that are specific to your major.
